1. Study Courses

What types of courses allow a non-EU student to apply for a study visa?

Italy issues study visas to non-EU students enrolled in:

- University programs (Bachelor's, Master's, PhD)
- Language courses lasting more than 90 days
- CORRECTION (source: conslosangeles.esteri.it): National student visas cannot be issued for attending low to mid-level Italian language programs. Only high-level language programs of more than 90 days qualify.
- Nationally recognized vocational/professional training courses (corsi di formazione professionale), including socio-health training
- Short-term programs under 90 days (Type C visa)

The student must prove they will follow a course in an educational institution or professional training on a full-time basis, in line with their previous studies in their home country.

Acceptable proof of course attendance:

- Official letter of acceptance/enrollment from the Italian institution (on letterhead, stamped, stating course name, duration, and schedule)
- Pre-enrollment application validated through the University portal
- Enrollment letter from an accredited professional training entity (declaring accreditation to carry out professional training programs)
- Letter of enrollment from the home institution (for study abroad applicants), stating current student status and expected graduation date

Governing law:

- Legislative Decree No. 286/1998 — Consolidated Immigration Act (Testo Unico sull'Immigrazione)
- DPR No. 394/1999 — implementing regulation of the above

2. Embassy Appointment

How to book an appointment at the Italian embassy?

Visit the website of the Italian consulate or embassy in your country and schedule a visa appointment. Some consulates use online booking platforms, while others may require contacting them via email or phone. Appointments fill up fast, so it is a good idea to book yours as soon as you receive your acceptance letter.

Main platforms used to manage appointment bookings at Italian embassies and consulates:

- Prenot@mi (prenotami.esteri.it) — the primary and official platform, centrally managed by the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation; used for visas, passports, citizenship, and other consular services; adopted by most consulates worldwide since June 2021
- VFS Global — used by certain consulates as an alternative or supplementary channel, particularly for visa applications in specific countries

Key features of Prenot@mi:

- Requires individual account registration with email verification
- Each applicant must have their own account (no shared family accounts)
- Appointments are released daily at midnight Rome time
- OTP (one-time password) verification required to confirm bookings
- Waiting list available when no slots are open
- Appointment confirmation required 3–10 days before the scheduled date

You can find your nearest Italian diplomatic mission via the official Visa for Italy portal: vistoperitalia.esteri.it

3. Applying for a Study Visa

What are the steps to apply for a study visa in Italy?

If you are a non-EU national planning to study in Italy for more than 90 days, you will need a national long-stay visa (Type D) for study purposes.

Steps:

1. Get accepted into an accredited Italian institution
2. Pre-enroll via the University portal (for university programs)
3. Book an appointment at your local Italian consulate/embassy
4. Prepare and submit all required documents
5. Pay the visa fee (~€50) and submit fingerprints
6. Wait for processing: processing generally takes 2 to 8 weeks, depending on the consulate
7. CORRECTION (source: consbangalore.esteri.it, conslosangeles.esteri.it): Processing for a long-stay Type D study visa can take up to 90 days. Applicants are strongly advised to apply at least 3 months before their planned departure. The '2 to 8 weeks' figure originates from non-governmental sources and does not reflect the legal maximum or the processing time stated by Italian consulates.

8. Collect your passport with the visa affixed

4. Documents Needed

To apply for an Italy Student Visa (Type D), you must submit:

- Valid passport (must be valid for at least three months beyond your intended stay and contain at least two blank pages)
- Official letter of acceptance from an accredited Italian educational institution
- Proof of accommodation in Italy (e.g., university housing confirmation, rental agreement, or host declaration)
- Round-trip flight reservation or proof of travel itinerary
- Visa application fee payment receipt
- A cover letter or statement of purpose explaining your study plans in Italy

Additionally:

- Proof of financial means (bank statements)
- Health insurance valid for the entire stay
- Passport-size photos
- Pre-enrollment summary from the University portal (for university courses)

Note: all documents must be translated into Italian or English and may need to be legalized or apostilled depending on the country.

5. Money Requirements

The foreign student must demonstrate being in possession of economic means for subsistence during the planned stay. These means are quantified as €467.65 per month for each month of duration of the academic year, equal to €6,079.45 per year.

CORRECTION (source: studyinitaly.esteri.it, MUR biennial circular for academic years 2025/2026 and 2026/2027): The current minimum subsistence threshold set by the Italian Ministry of University and Research (MUR) is €534.41 per month, equal to €6,412.92 per year (calculated over 12 monthly instalments). The figures of €467.65/month and €6,079.45/year are outdated.

This can be proven through:

- Personal bank statements (covering the last 3–6 months, signed and stamped by the bank, not older than 30 days at time of submission)

- Parental or guardian bank statements, accompanied by a notarized sponsorship/affidavit letter confirming financial commitment, proof of relationship, and the sponsor's proof of employment or income
- A scholarship award letter from the Italian government, a recognized Italian university, or another official body, clearly stating the amount covered and duration
- A financial guarantee from an Italian institution, university, or a citizen legally residing in Italy
- An education loan sanction letter from an accredited bank, provided the funds are deposited and visible on submitted bank statements
- Income Tax Returns (ITR) of the sponsor, demonstrating consistent and legitimate income history
- Fixed deposit certificates, accompanied by bank confirmation of accessibility
- Proof of tuition fee payment in full (may reduce the remaining funds requirement)

Notes:

- All financial documents must be in Italian or English, or accompanied by a certified translation
- Documents must bear official bank stamps, letterheads, and authorized signatures
- Funds must reflect stable financial activity; sudden large deposits may trigger additional scrutiny
- Accepted sponsors are limited to: parents, legal guardians, Italian institutions, or foreign citizens legally residing in Italy

6. Residence Permit

Non-EU foreigners holding a Type D (long-stay) study visa must apply for a Permesso di Soggiorno per motivi di studio within 8 working days of arrival in Italy, as established by Art. 39 of Legislative Decree No. 286/1998 (Testo Unico sull'Immigrazione) and Arts. 44-bis, 45, and 46 of DPR No. 394/1999.

The permit is issued by the local Questura (Police Headquarters – Immigration Office) of the applicant's place of residence.

Step-by-step procedure:

1. Go to a Poste Italiane post office with a Sportello Amico counter within 8 working days of arrival
2. Request the free application kit (Kit Giallo — a large yellow-and-white envelope containing Mod. 209 Modulo 1 and Modulo 2)
3. Fill out the forms in black ink, block letters, in Italian; do not sign until in front of the postal officer
4. Attach the required documents and the marca da bollo; do not seal the envelope
5. Submit the kit in person at the Sportello Amico counter and pay the required fees
6. Receive a receipt with a UserID/password to track the application online; this receipt serves as proof of legal status until the permit is issued

7. Attend the fingerprinting appointment at the Questura on the date indicated on the postal receipt

Documents needed for the kit (Mod. 209):

- Mod. 209 Modulo 1 filled out (for study purposes, only Modulo 1 is required; Modulo 2 is for employment-related permits)
- Revenue stamp (marca da bollo) of €16.00, available at any tobacconist (tabaccaio) or newsagent
- Photocopy of valid passport (data pages and study visa page)
- Copy of the study programme, admission letter, or enrollment certificate, stamped by the Italian diplomatic/consular representation at the time the visa was issued
- Proof of sufficient financial means (bank/post statement or certificate from institution confirming scholarship amount); minimum threshold is the annual Italian social allowance (€7,101.12 for 2026)
- Copy of health/accident insurance policy valid in Italy for the entire duration of the permit (travel and tourist insurance policies are not accepted)
- Copy of codice fiscale (Italian tax identification number) — not mandatory for first issue

Fees payable at the post office:

- €16.00 — marca da bollo
- €30.46 — electronic permit issuance fee (paid by postal giro slip included in the kit)
- €30.00 — postal service fee
- €40.00 — administrative contribution for permits of up to 1 year (total: €70.46 for the electronic permit + contribution, paid together)
- €50.00 — administrative contribution for permits of 1–2 years

Legal basis:

- Art. 39, Legislative Decree No. 286/1998 — governs residence permits for study purposes
- Arts. 44-bis, 45, and 46, DPR No. 394/1999 — implementing regulation on procedure and documentation

7. Working While Studying

With a valid Italy Student Visa and residence permit, you are allowed to work part-time — up to 20 hours per week and 1,040 hours per year. This applies to both employed and self-employed work. Hours exceeding this limit are not permitted under the student residence status.

8. Renewing the Residence Permit

Under Art. 5, para. 4 of Legislative Decree No. 286/1998, the renewal application must be submitted to the Questore of the province of residence at least 60 days before the permit's expiration date. The application is subject to verification of the same conditions required for the original issue. For study permits specifically, the procedure is governed by Art. 39 of D.Lgs. 286/1998 and Art. 46 of DPR 394/1999.

Important notes on the deadline:

- The renewal must be submitted before the expiration date, ideally at least 60 days before
- It may still be accepted up to 60 days after expiration in exceptional cases, but the applicant risks being considered irregularly present and may lose access to the National Health Service
- More than 60 days after expiration without a justified reason (giustificato motivo) will likely result in an irregular status

Procedure:

- Same as the first application — through a Poste Italiane Sportello Amico counter using the Kit Giallo (Mod. 209 Modulo 1; Modulo 2 only if the student also has income from work)
- On form Mod. 209, select option 8 (rinnovo) instead of 7 (rilascio)
- Same fees apply as for the first issue

Additional documents required for renewal:

- For university students: certificate proving the passing of at least 1 exam for the 1st renewal, and at least 2 exams for each subsequent renewal (Art. 46, DPR 394/1999); exceptions allowed only for serious health reasons or force majeure, duly documented
- For professional training students: documentation of continued enrollment from the accredited training institution
- Updated proof of financial means for the duration of the renewed permit
- Updated health/accident insurance policy valid in Italy for the renewed period
- Updated university enrollment certificate (certificato di iscrizione)
- Copy of the current (expiring) permit

Legal status during processing:

- Under Art. 5, para. 9 of D.Lgs. 286/1998, the permit must be issued or renewed within 60 days of the application; in practice, processing takes 90–180 days or more
- The postal receipt (ricevuta) serves as proof of legal status until the new permit is issued and must always be carried with the expired permit

- Travel to other Schengen countries during this period is not permitted with the receipt alone; direct travel to the country of citizenship is allowed

9. Changing to a Work Permit

Yes. A study residence permit can be converted into either a work permit or a self-employment permit. It is possible to convert a residence permit for study through an application addressed telematically to the Prefecture competent for the place of work. With the entry into force of the Cutro Decree, it is possible to submit applications for conversion at any time of the year, with no limit on the number.

Alternatively, Italy offers international students who have completed their studies the ability to remain in the country and search for employment through a residence permit specifically designed for job-seeking purposes — allowing you to legally remain in Italy for up to 12 months while seeking employment or starting a business after graduation.

1. Study Courses

To apply for a Long-Stay Student Visa (Type D) for Italy, non-EU students must be enrolled in one of the following:

- Higher Education Degree Programs: Bachelor's, Master's, or PhD programs at accredited Italian universities.
- Single University Courses: Specific, short-term individual university courses or exchange/Erasmus programs.
- AFAM Courses: Higher education programs in Art, Music, and Dance at recognized academies and conservatories.
- Technical and Vocational Training: Technical specialization courses (ITS) or advanced vocational training courses.
- Italian Language and Culture Courses: Full-time, intensive language courses at certified, recognized schools.

Note: The course must be a full-time program. Part-time courses do not qualify for an Italian study visa.

2. Embassy Appointment

To book a visa appointment, you must use the official diplomatic channels:

- Prenot@Mi Portal: Most Italian Embassies and Consulates worldwide use the online Prenot@Mi platform run by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. You must register an account, choose your local consulate, and book an available time slot.
- VFS Global / Outsourced Centers: In many countries (like India, Turkey, Russia, etc.), the Italian government outsources visa collection to external agencies like VFS Global or VisaMetric. In these cases, you will book the appointment directly through their localized websites.

3. Applying for a Study Visa

The application process involves both online registration and an in-person appointment.

How to Apply

- Pre-enrollment: Apply to your chosen Italian university. Once accepted, you must complete a pre-enrollment application on the official University portal.
- University Validation: The university approves your pre-enrollment on the portal and forwards it to the relevant Italian Embassy.
- Book Appointment: Secure your slot via Prenot@Mi or VFS Global.
- Submit & Interview: Attend your appointment, submit your physical documents, pay the visa fee (approximately €116), and complete a short interview.

Timeline

- When to apply: You must submit your visa application between 90 and 30 days before your program starts.
- CORRECTION (official consulate sources): The application window is not uniformly defined as '90 to 30 days' across all consulates. Italian Consulates in Los Angeles and Tel Aviv state applications may be submitted up to 6 months before the planned departure, and no later than 15 calendar days before departure. Always verify the exact window with your local Italian consulate, as it varies by jurisdiction.
- Processing time: It typically takes 4 to 8 weeks for the embassy to process and issue a Type D study visa.
- CORRECTION (official consulate sources, e.g., Italian Consulate London, Bangalore, Tel Aviv, New York): The official processing time for a National Type D visa can take up to 90 days. Some consulates cite a minimum of 15 days. The '4 to 8 weeks' figure understates the maximum processing period.

4. Documents Needed

Before going to your visa appointment, you must prepare the following physical documents:

- Visa Application Form: Fully completed and signed long-stay (National Type D) form.
- Valid Passport: Must have at least two blank pages and be valid for at least 3 months after your intended stay.
- Recent Passport Photos: Usually 2 to 4 photos matching Schengen standards.
- Summary of Pre-enrollment: Downloaded directly from the University portal.
- Proof of Qualifications: High school diploma or university degree, often requiring a Dichiarazione di Valore (Declaration of Value) issued by the embassy or a CIMEA statement of comparability.
- Proof of Accommodation: A lease agreement, university dorm housing confirmation, or a formalized letter of invitation/hospitality (Dichiarazione di ospitalità).
- Health Insurance: A policy valid in Italy providing at least €30,000 in medical coverage, including emergency repatriation.
- Flight Reservation: A round-trip flight booking or itinerary.

5. Money Requirements

To qualify for a student visa, you must prove you have sufficient financial resources to maintain yourself without working.

- The Minimum Legal Requirement: You must demonstrate access to a minimum of €460.28 per month (which calculated annually requires showing at least €5,523.36 to €6,947.33 depending on the specific intake cycle requirements set by the consulate).
- CORRECTION (Italian Embassy Tel Aviv, academic year 2024–2025): The updated minimum financial requirement is €467.65 per month (€6,079.45 per year). The figure of €460.28 is outdated. Always verify the current amount with your local Italian consulate as it is updated periodically.
- How to Prove It: You must provide certified 3 to 6-month bank statements. This can be your personal account or a parent/guardian's account supported by a notarized sponsorship affidavit. Documented educational loans or official scholarship letters are also accepted.

6. Residence Permit (Permesso di Soggiorno)

Once you arrive in Italy, your visa only acts as an entry ticket. You must apply for a Residence Permit within 8 days of arrival.

- Once you arrive in Italy, your visa only acts as an entry ticket. You must apply for a Residence Permit within 8 days of arrival.
- CORRECTION (Ministry of Interior, interno.gov.it): The correct deadline is 8 working days (giorni lavorativi) of arrival, not 8 calendar days. Sundays and public holidays are excluded from the count.
- Get a Postal Kit: Go to a post office (Poste Italiane) that features a Sportello Amico (Friendly Desk) and ask for the yellow "Kit Giallo" containing the residence permit application forms (Modulo 1).

- Fill and Submit: Fill out Modulo 1, attach copies of your passport, visa, university enrollment, financial proof, and health insurance.
- Pay the Fees: You must pay around €70.46 (which includes the card production fee and administrative contribution) plus a €16 revenue stamp (marca da bollo) bought at any tobacco shop (tabaccheria), and a €30 post office mailing fee.
- The Receipt (Cedolino): The post office will hand you a receipt with a tracking number and an appointment date at the local immigration police headquarters (Questura). This receipt serves as your temporary legal status.
- Questura Appointment: Attend your appointment for fingerprinting, bring originals of all documents, and wait for your plastic card to be printed.

7. Working While Studying

Yes, non-EU international students holding a valid Permesso di Soggiorno per studio are legally permitted to work.

- Hour Limits: You are limited to a maximum of 20 hours per week and a total of 1,040 hours per year.
- Restrictions: You must have a formalized, legal employment contract, and you cannot be registered as a full-time freelancer unless you convert your permit.

8. Renewing the Residence Permit

Because a student residence permit is usually issued for a maximum of 1 year, you must renew it annually if your course lasts longer.

- When to apply: You should start the renewal process 60 days before your current permit expires.
- Process: You must request and fill out a new yellow postal kit at the post office.
- Academic Progression Requirements: To successfully renew, you must prove academic progress. You must have passed at least 1 exam for your first renewal, and at least 2 exams per year for subsequent renewals.
- Other requirements: Updated bank statements showing you still have the required annual funds, and renewed health insurance.

9. Changing to a Work Permit

Upon completing your studies, you can transition your residency status to a work permit (Permesso di soggiorno per lavoro).

- If you have a Job Offer: You can convert your permit to a Subordinate Work Permit (Lavoro Subordinato). The application is submitted online via the Ministry of the Interior's portal. Your employer must provide a formalized contract offering at least 20 hours a week and an income above the social minimum (approx. €8,500/year).
- If you don't have a Job Offer yet: If you graduate with an Italian Bachelor's, Master's, or PhD, you can apply for a Permesso per Attesa Occupazione (Job Seeker Residence Permit). This extends your legal stay for up to 12 months while you search for a job or internship.

10. Official Information

Always rely on official government platforms to check for policy changes:

- The Ministry of Foreign Affairs (Il Visto per l'Italia): vistoperitalia.esteri.it (An interactive tool to check exact visa types and requirements based on your nationality).
- The University Portal: universitaly.it (The mandatory portal for higher education pre-enrollment).
- The Immigration Portal: portaleimmigrazione.it (The official system to track residence permit kits and post office processing).

11. Application Forms

- Visa Application Forms: Can be downloaded for free directly from the website of your local Italian Embassy or Consulate under the "Forms/Modulistica" section.
- Residence Permit Forms: The physical "Kit Giallo" forms cannot be downloaded online because they contain unique, scannable barcoded sheets. You must collect them directly from a Poste Italiane office.

12. Tips for Students (Common Mistakes to Avoid)

- Missing the 8-day deadline: Many students arrive and enjoy the country, forgetting they must submit the Permesso di Soggiorno kit within 8 days of stepping foot in Italy.
- Vague Bank Statements: Consulates frequently reject applications if the bank statements show large, unexplained lump-sum deposits right before the visa interview. The money should show a stable, verifiable history.
- Forgetting the Codice Fiscale: Get your Italian Tax Code (Codice Fiscale) from the Italian Embassy before you travel or from the local Agenzia delle Entrate immediately upon arrival. You cannot finalize university enrollment or rent an apartment without it.
- Traveling without the Postal Receipt: If your permit is expiring and you submitted a renewal, you can travel back home, but you must carry the original Post Office receipt (cedolino) along with your expired permit to pass through border control.
